

Survey of Camping Expectations 2021 French campers

ACSI has recently conducted a second survey to find out more about the holiday plans of French campers for 2021. We wanted to know whether campers are still planning to go on holiday abroad and if there are any shifts in the favourite countries or holiday periods.

In this infographic, we have collated the most significant results from measurements 1 and 2 from the ACSI survey into the camping intentions of French campers. A total of 2,536 French campers took part in measurement 1 and 1,578 French campers took part in measurement 2.

Measurement 1:
January 29 - February 16

2,536 respondents

25% have their own caravan

71% have their own motorhome

Measurement 2:
March 23 - April 8

1,578 respondents

25% have their own caravan

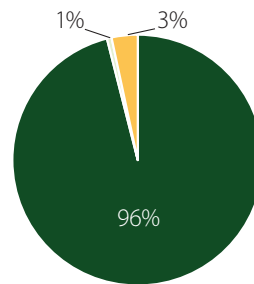

71% have their own motorhome

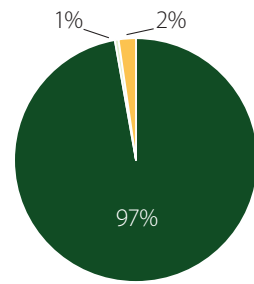

Are you planning to go camping in 2021?

The camping holiday is still going ahead!

The majority of the French campers still have camping plans for 2021. No less than 97% of the respondents are planning to go camping. The percentage of campers who indicated they would not be going on holiday or are still uncertain stayed virtually the same.

Camping intention - months in 2021

Period

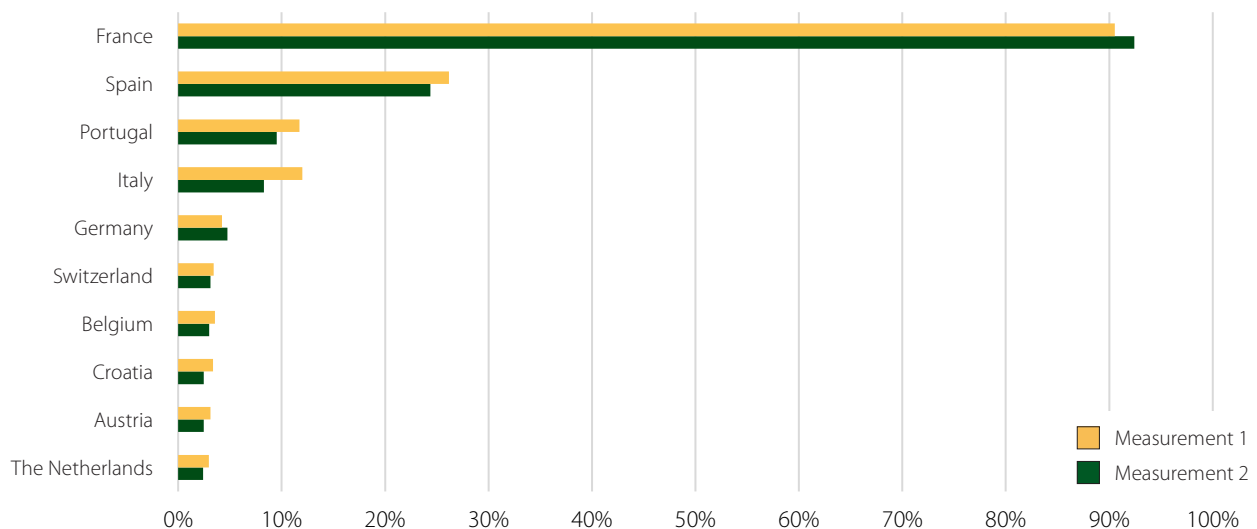

French campers who usually go camping with children or grandchildren are still planning to go on the road in July, August and September. In particular, the month of July has gained in popularity. Campers who usually go camping in a different composition (two adults, single person without children, groups of friends or group trips) are mainly planning to go camping in September, June and May. Among this group, there has been a clear increase in the period from June onwards.

Camping intention - countries in 2021

Destination

Popular destinations among French campers are France, Spain and Portugal. Germany and France have increased in popularity. A total of 58% of the French campers indicated they will only be going camping within France in 2021.
